Advisory Business

Firm Description

Baldwin & Clarke Advisory Services, Inc. (“BCASI “) was founded in 1985 to meet the financial planning, wealth transfer and investment needs of individuals, families, businesses, charitable organizations and qualified retirement plans.

Asset Management: A comprehensive fee-based service that utilizes an institutional investment process supported by an independent, open-architecture, “management of managers” platform and robust tools and technology. We provide clients access to global, traditional and alternative asset classes. Fees are charged pursuant to a standard fee schedule agreed to by the client at the time the management account is established and is based on the amount of assets under advisement. Fees may be negotiable under special circumstances.

Client portfolios are developed to meet the client’s investment return and risk objectives. This is usually accomplished through asset allocation modeling strategies. In all cases, client portfolio strategies are implemented through rigorously selected and monitored separate account managers and/or mutual funds.

Legacy Planning: A comprehensive fee-based wealth transfer planning approach that assists a family in creating and executing their legacy vision. This includes the vision they have for themselves, their heirs and their community. In addition, the planning may address the values, lessons learned, traditions and family history that are important to a family, and develops strategies to pass those on to future generations. Finally, in concert with your current legal and tax advisors, we recommend the strategies required for the tax efficient transfer of assets to future generations.

Financial and Estate Planning: The firm also provides traditional comprehensive financial and estate planning on a fee basis. BCASI’s Integrated Financial Solution is a bespoke financial plan developed with proprietary analytical tools to provide unbiased guidance to families regarding education funding, retirement planning and risk management concerns. Fees and Compensation

Description

Asset Management:

BCASI bases its management fees on a percentage of assets under management. Clients are billed at the first day of each calendar quarter based upon the value of the assets under management at the end of the previous quarter.

If a client's contract becomes effective subsequent to the first day of a calendar quarter or month, or terminates before the last day of a calendar quarter or month, the fee is determined by applying the foregoing percentage to the applicable portion of such quarter (such total value being determined as of the last day of the calendar quarter) and reducing the fee proportionately. BCASI may, at its discretion, combine accounts for clients with multiple accounts for purposes of calculating the appropriate fee. Charitable organizations may receive a discount from the normal fee schedule.

Fees are negotiable at the discretion of the President of BCASI. The minimum annual fee is $1,500. Effective November 1, 2014 the standard fee schedule is as follows:

The fees for business continuity planning range between $3,000 and $25,000. The amount of fee charged to the client within the range will depend upon the complexity of the client's situation and the specific analysis that must be prepared to complete the client's plan.

B&C WealthDirect services:

The fees for B&C WealthDirect services range from free to $2,500 quarterly. Each person signing up for access to the services will enter into an agreement that specifies the fee to be charged.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees are billed quarterly, in arrears meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are usually deducted from a designated client account to facilitate billing. The client must consent in advance to direct debiting of their investment account.

Clients are quoted a fee range for the specific financial planning services to be performed. A deposit equal to one half of the lower quoted fee will be payable at the time of the fact finding meeting and the balance due upon completion of the planning service. Fees are refundable within thirty days after the deposit is received from the client. Notice must be given to BCASI via certified mail, return receipt requested. A pro rata charge for advisory services performed during the thirty day period may be charged at the rate of $50 per hour. Such charges for services already performed may be deducted from any refund.

Some planning services are provided on an hourly basis. Hourly billing rates vary from $100 to $300.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds and exchange-traded funds. These transaction charges are usually small and incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. BCASI does not participate in any of the above fees. The selection of the security is more important than the nominal fee that the custodian charges to buy or sell the security. Some custodians also charge fees for custodial services and/or access to particular investment platforms.

Expense Ratios

Mutual funds generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is called an expense ratio. For example, an expense ratio of 0.50 means that the mutual fund company charges 0.5% for their services. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by you to BCASI.

Performance figures quoted by mutual fund companies in various publications are after their fees have been deducted.

Separate account managers also charge asset management fees, which may or may not be included in the above platform fees.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

BCASI reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 90 days overdue. In addition, BCASI reserves the right to terminate any agreement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in BCASI's judgment, to providing proper financial advice.

Performance-Based Fees

Sharing of Capital Gains

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed accounts.

BCASI does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client.

Types of Clients

Description

BCASI generally provides investment advice to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations or other business entities.

Account Minimums

The minimum annual fee for new accounts is $500 for start up qualified retirement plans, $2,500 for established qualified retirement plans, and $1,500 for other accounts (the minimum fee may be waived for certain "multiple" accounts). The Investment Advisory Fee is paid quarterly based on the market value of assets on the last day of the quarter. Fees for assets advised for less than a full quarter are prorated. Fees may be paid out of the investment income or principal or directly by the client. The Advisory Client is sent a detailed explanation of the fee deduction and a transaction summary statement reflecting the deduction from the investment account. BCASI may combine multiple, so-called "household" accounts for purposes of applying the above fee schedule.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

BCASI looks to the research and analytical information provided by Callan Associates, Morningstar and selected custodians regarding separate account managers, mutual funds and ETFs as primary source material in the selection of investments.

This information is augmented by information obtained from financial newspapers and magazines, fund companies separate account managers, conferences, discussions with portfolio managers, brokerage firms, etc.

Investment Strategies

Investment Strategies are tailored to a client's specific objectives and risk tolerance level. Long-term strategic portfolios are developed for most clients. These portfolios are adjusted tactically as required by market conditions or client requirements.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

The reviewers are the professionals for whom information is provided on ADV Part 2B. They develop and maintain client relationships on behalf of BCASI. There is no assignment of accounts by BCASI. The reviewers are instructed to carry out such reviews as required by client circumstances and objectives but no less frequently than annually. The reviews may be triggered by changes in a client's circumstances or in investment or economic conditions, which would impact on a client's financial plan and objectives. Every account is reviewed daily for significant changes in market value. Portfolio holdings are reviewed on a global basis daily for changes in market value and reviewed frequently for changes in investment style, changes in personnel and performance concerns for both mutual funds and separate account managers. This information is received from Callan Associates, Schwab, fund companies, Morningstar, and TD Ameritrade.

Regular Reports

Financial Plans are updated, on an as needed basis, pursuant to the execution of a new client engagement agreement. Investment management/supervisory services are provided primarily through the use of separate account managers and mutual funds approved by BCASI. Representatives are restricted to the funds approved by BCASI. Many of the funds recommended by BCASI have passed the Callan Associates screening process. Clients receive quarterly statements as well as confirmation statements with each trade, monthly dividend and interest payments. Quarterly performance reports and market reviews are also provided to certain clients.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals

BCASI has been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years. The referrals come from uncompensated sources such as: current clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, employees, personal friends of employees and other similar sources. BCASI may enter into solicitor agreements with selected individuals or firms who will be compensated for referrals that result in client engagements. All such compensation will be fully disclosed to the client, who will acknowledge such disclosure in writing. Clients introduced to BCASI in this manner will not pay a fee higher than other clients.

Referrals Out

BCASI does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Custody

Account Statements

BCASI does not provide custodial services for client assets and all client accounts are required to be held with a qualified custodian. Clients will receive account statements from the custodian that holds their accounts, and clients should carefully review these statements. It is important to compare the information on these statements with reports you receive from BCASI. Please note that there may be minor variations due to calculation methods. If you have any questions, please contact BCASI.

BCASI and its Associated Persons do not take possession of client funds or securities. However, in certain asset management programs clients have authorized BCASI to deduct advisory fees from their accounts. While BCASI does not, nor permit its Associated Persons to, take possession of client assets, this level of account access is considered "custody" under the Advisers Act rules.

Performance Reports

BCASI provides quarterly performance reports, which are available electronically or in hard copy format.

Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

With these clients BCASI has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold. For those clients who elect not to have discretionary accounts, they must consent to all trades before they are submitted.

The client approves the custodian to be used and the commission and/or fees paid to the custodian. BCASI does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the client to the custodian.

Certified Valuation Analyst® (CVA®) - The CVA® credential is granted by the National Association of Certified Valuators and Analysts™ (NACVA®) only to qualified individuals with considerable professional experience in the field of business valuation. Those individuals have met NACVA's rigorous standards of professionalism, expertise, objectivity and integrity in the field of business valuation, financial consulting and related consulting disciplines. NACVA's CVA designation is the only valuation credential accredited by the National Commission for Certifying Agencies® (NCCA®), the accreditation body of the Institute for Credentialing Excellence™ (ICE™). To become accredited by NACVA, the candidate is required to successfully complete an intensive training and testing process. An initial requirement to becoming a CVA is that the applicant either be a licensed Certified Public Accountant (CPA) holding an active, valid and unrevoked CPA license in his or her own state, or hold a business degree and/or an MBA (Masters of Business Administration), or higher business degree, from an accredited college or university. Further, those without a CPA license must have two years or more full time or equivalent experience in business valuation and related disciplines.
